

...ance. How can we get them implemented?
 ... religion emeritus at Emory University, and author of Passionate Uncertainty: Inside the American
 ... eminent moral theologian and author of more than a Catholic Moral Tradition: A Synthesis. holds the
 ... of Human Values at Southern Methodist University.
 ... session (8.01)

Sexual Abuse Survivors' Response from the Church

Barbara Blaine (left) and Peter Isely give an overview of the response that victims of clergy sexual abuse receive from church leaders. The session is sponsored by SNAP — Survivors Network of Those Abused by Priests. They assess the current status of the crisis in the church, and offer practical steps we can take to help. Blaine is a social worker and attorney. She has had personal contact with over 1,000 victims. She is a public guardian, representing children in ... Isely is a SNAP founding member and its Midwest ... he directed the nation's only inpatient treatment for clergy sexual abuse in Wisconsin. SNAP has 4,500 support groups in 40+ cities. Sat., 1 PM (8.05) and

The Tribal Dreams of the Christian Community

Pat Brockman explains tribal dreams drawing on Scripture, Jung's collective psyche, experience of indigenous peoples, and Catholic symbols and rituals. We share a personal dream in small groups and large, exploring it as an expression of the collective soul of our "tribe" (family, parish, community). An Ursuline sister with a Ph.D. in ... Brockman is a retreat leader, spiritual director and ... in Cincinnati, Ohio. She is author of The Community and Christian Tribal Consciousness (2001) and a tape Inform Our Lives (1996). Sat., 1 PM (8.06) and

The National Review Board Confronts Clergy Sexual Abuse of Minors

Justice Anne Burke of the Illinois Appellate Court is the Vice Chair of the National Review Board appointed by the U.S. Bishops' Conference in November 2002 for lay oversight of their response to the clergy sexual abuse crisis. The Board works in tandem with the new Office for Child and Youth Protection, headed by former F.B.I. official Kathleen

Sat. (4.02) & Sun. (12.02), 7:45 AM member who now dedicates his energy to promoting peace through speaking, writing and working with victims of violence. He is on CTA's Next Generation Planning Committee.

Racial Profiling and Immigration

Audrey Carr is an immigration lawyer in Minneapolis. She left a career in International business to work for the U.N. Development Fund for Women in New York and Africa, then became a lawyer and began a law practice that centers on asylum, family-based immigration, relief from deportation, and the Violence Against Women Act. Active in the American Immigration Lawyers Association, she lectures widely on immigration law and policy. Sat., 1 PM (8.07) & 2:30 PM (8.03)

Prophets in Our Time: Women in Ministry

Genevieve Chavez and Joy Barnes lead a workshop on the women's ordination movement in the Church, sponsored by WOC — Women's Ordination Conference. They share their own experiences in ministry and church leadership, and help us in small groups to identify ways to move women, young women and those of color into more inclusive ministry and to support those called to priesthood. Chavez, of Las Cruces, N.M., is executive director of WOC. Barnes, of Northern Virginia, coordinates WOC's Young Feminist Network, and is co-coordinator of Women Church Convergence, a 33-group national coalition. Sat., 1 PM (8.08) & 2:30 PM (9.04)

The Vibrant Church Among the Indigenous Peoples of Southern Mexico

The Chiapas delegation — a married deacon and his wife (photo, page 2), and a Jesuit priest — will travel from southern Mexico to represent the vibrant indigenous church communities with whom Call To Action now enjoys a collegial relationship. Bishop Samuel Ruiz of Chiapas addressed CTA in 1999. Last October and again in February, theologian Jeanette Rodriguez of the CTA board spent several weeks in Chiapas meeting with the leaders of the 550 Mayan communities. They sent back word that they regard themselves and CTA as twins, with the same vision of church. Since the lay deacons and their wives are their leaders, the animadores del corazón, they will choose one deacon couple and one priest to represent the Chiapas church at the conference. They will also take part in the all-day Friday session (page 2), "What Are They Saying About Jesus?" Sat., 1 PM (8.09) peace, we must also be advocates for budgets sponsored by NETWORK, the national Catholic s Curtis is a lobbyist. A Mercy sister from Roches with high schoolers, missions in Chile, pregnant coordinator for her community. Sat., 1 - 3:30 PM

Making Peace with Catholic Life and L

Francis DeBernardo, sponsored by New Way the prophetic challenge the Church. Welcoming means being open to it while shedding prejudice session is about finding exercises for brainstorm and institutional homophobia, and some small g DeBernardo is executive director of New Ways M doctoral dissertation in English at the University 1986 document on the pastoral care of homosexual Sat., 1 - 3:30 PM double session (8.03)

School of the Americas A Call to be a Sub

Kathleen Desautels School of the Americas foreign policy. SDA an us a comprehensive sp Desautels invites us to "lines need to be cross collectively. A 17-yea Chicago's 8th Day Center for Justice, she serv prison for crossing the line in civil disobedience in 2002. Her nonviolent witness against U.S. r rights and ecology since 1980 have taken her countries, Iraq, Palestine, Haiti and China. Sa 2:30 PM (9.06)

Return to Table of Contents

Return to Section 16